INTRODUCTION

This Policy defines commitments of the International Federation of Muaythai Amateur (IFMA) to support gender equality and the principles expressed in the UN’s Universal Declaration of Human Rights, including the UNESCO International Charter of Physical Education and Sport, the Convention on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) and the Brighton Declaration on Women and Sport. The Policy also recognizes and contributes to the gender equality objectives of Goal 5 of the United Nations Millennium Development Goals (MDGs). The Policy reflects on the principle of the Olympic Charter “to encourage and support the promotion of women in sport at all levels and in all structures.”

The IFMA Gender Equality Policy reflects the commitment of the IFMA Constitution Article II that all members of the IFMA family do not face discrimination of any kind including and not limited to; race, ethnicity, skin tone, gender, sexual orientation, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status.

The Gender Equality Policy of the International Federation of Muaythai Amateur (IFMA) aims to promote gender equality in the sport of Muaythai.

For IFMA Gender Equality refers to the equal rights, responsibilities and opportunities of all gender identifications including; women, men, girls and boys, and equal power to shape their own lives and contribute to society. It encompasses the narrower concept of Gender Equity, which primarily concerns fairness and justice regarding benefits and needs. Gender equality also refers to the transformational commitment needed to make equal rights and equal power a reality, within the human rights agenda. It entails that the interests, needs, and priorities of females and males be taken into consideration, recognizing the great diversity within these groups. Gender equality is not a women’s issue but should concern and fully engage men as well as women and all gender identities. Equality between all genders including; women and men, girls and boys, is seen both as a human rights issue and should be of concern to all. When a policy, system, or approach is gender-responsive, it means it is informed by an awareness of the effects of gender norms, roles, and relations as they impact sports and that it takes measures to actively reduce those effects that pose barriers to gender equality. It also assesses men and women’s specific needs and interests and works toward equal outcomes for all. This includes equal access to learning and funding resources, training and participation in competitions as well as media portrayal.

IFMA believes that Gender equality will benefit the position of women improving the diversity of today’s sport sector, contributing positively to the quality of the services delivered across the sports of Muaythai. It will establish a safe and secure sport environment for girls and boys, young women and men as it will raise awareness of the topic, educate instructors and administrators on how to handle risks in this field and prevent harm to athletes. Gender friendly guidance and coaching may decrease the high drop-out rate of girls and women, avoid sexist gender stereotypes in sport and create a positive and social educational climate for all.

To conclude, it should be strongly stressed that gender equality in sport will be economically beneficial for all stakeholders in sport and related industries, including the media due to higher participation and popularity of sport and a growing workforce.
GOAL OF THE POLICY
This Policy states the commitment of the IFMA to consistently, meaningfully and strategically integrate gender equality across our programming and in our organization educating and empowering IFMA Athletes, Officials and youth using the power of sport.

The overall aim of the Policy is to ensure that sport is attractive to all, but pays particular attention to girls and women, regardless to age or background, so that they can participate, work, govern and enjoy sport, in a safe, equal and secure environment.

OBJECTIVES OF THE POLICY
IFMA Gender Equality Policy, which will take effect on 25th of July 2019 and be reviewed in four years time, is designed to:

▪ Establish an inclusive and enabling organizational culture free from gender bias and discrimination;
▪ Ensure gender equality and the empowerment of women in the work of IFMA;
▪ Ensure equal representation and gender sensitivity in decision making;

However, this promotion will not be limited to increasing only the numbers of female representatives but shall extend to how IFMA recruits females onto its Committees. IFMA shall also promote the use of gender-neutral terms in its governance documents.

4. To encourage and promote a gender-aware and gender responsible organisational culture.

5. To encourage the intension of women Athletes to transit from Athlete or Official to a management position within IFMA in every possible way.

TRANSGENDER / GENDER REASSIGNMENT / TRANSSEXUAL ATHLETES

Respecting the important element of fair play, IFMA, as a gender-affected sport, aims to allow transgender Athletes the ability to compete at the highest level. IFMA recognizes the fact that decisions about participation must be taken on an individual basis as the integrity of male and female Muaythai must also be duly respected.
Annex 1. Definitions

Gender identifies the social and cultural relations between men and women. It refers to the relationship between men and women, boys and girls, male and female and how this is socially constructed. Gender roles are dynamic and change over time also dependent on context and cultural considerations.

Gender-based violence is defined as violence directed against a person due to gender (including gender identity/expression) or as violence that affects persons of a particular gender disproportionately. In this report this includes sexual violence (including rape, bullying, intimidation, threatening behavior, sexual assault, abuse and harassment).

Gender equality is the result of the absence of discrimination on the basis of a person’s sex in opportunities and the allocation of resources or benefits or in access to services.

Gender equity entails the provision of fairness and justice in the distribution of benefits and responsibilities between women and men. The concept recognises that women and men have different needs and power and that these differences should be identified and addressed in a manner that rectifies the imbalances between the sexes.

Gender-based harassment is unwelcome conduct related to a person’s gender and has the effect or purpose of offending another person’s dignity.

Gender identity is a person’s sense of being male or female, resulting from a combination of genetic and environmental influences and a person’s concept of being male and masculine or female and feminine, or as otherwise specified. Gender identity is also an expression of gender self-identity to which for many is not binary; male or female. Gender identity is not to be confused with sexual identity.

Intersectionality refers to a situation where several grounds operate and interact with each other at the same time in such a way that they are inseparable. The shape of the social behavior commonly exemplified by women and men often goes together with other (unequal) power relations due to the ethnicity, religion, culture, disability sexual orientation and age.
Multiple discrimination in this context is to be understood as any combination of discrimination on the grounds of sex, racial or ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age or sexual orientation.

Sexual abuse refers to tricking, forcing or coercing a person into any sexual activity the person does not want, or is not sufficiently mature to give their consent.

Sexual harassment refers to behaviour of a sexualized nature which is unwanted, exploitative, degrading, coerced, forced and/or violent.

Direct Discrimination Treating a person less favorably than you would treat others due to their gender.

Indirect Discrimination Applying, without reasonable justification, some criteria or practice which appears to apply equally to all but which, in practice, disadvantages a person due to their gender.

IFMA recognizes that various terms may be used when referring to transgender people therefore, for sensitivity and respect, the following terms have been adopted:

Transgender An umbrella term including but not limited to; transsexual women/men, intersex people, androgyne and polygender people, cross dressing and transvestite people whose gender identity or expression, is different to the sex that was assigned to them at birth.

Gender reassignment A person who is undergoing or who has undergone treatment with the objective of changing, altering their physical sex.

Transsexual people are a subgroup within the transgender umbrella, referring to a person who has transitioned and/ or feels they belong to the opposite sex they were assigned at birth. A transsexual male refers to someone who has transitioned from female to male and vice versa. This term is not to be confused with cross-dresser or transvestite.
Annex 2. Implementation of the Policy

Within the first year following the adoption of this Gender Equality Policy, IFMA will provide National Associations directives regarding the following:
